POPE LEO BURIED TODAY

Public View of Remains Ended at Noon.

SCARCELY RECOGNIZABLE

Cardinals Received Diplomatic Corps. Expressions of Condo- lence.

Rome, July 25.—The public view of the Pope's remains ended at noon today. The remains today presented a most pitiful appearance, being scarcely recognizable.

The cardinals received the diplomatic corps in the hall of consistory this morning. M. Autos, of Portugal, dean of the diplomatic corps, made a short speech conveying the condolences of the powers and the whole civilized world, over the loss of the holy father, and Cardinal Oreglia thanked him in a brief speech. The reception ended without presentation of any note on the subject of temporal power or mention of any political subject.

SCENE AT LEO'S DEATHBED

Valet Centra Tells How Child Held Hand of Dying Pontiff.

Pio Centra, for many years the personal attendant of Leo XIII., in a recent interview with the Rome correspondent of the New York American, gave an affecting description of the death of the pontiff.

"Extraordinary emotion moved everybody in the room," he said. "We all thought that Oreglia could not cry, but he shed tears like a child when his holiness commended the care of the church and the college of cardinals to him. Even the reserved diplomats wept, while Cardinal Mennini and several others fainted during the death struggle."

"The little grandnephew of the pope, the son of Ludovic Pecci, forced his way through the ranks of the cardinals and insisted on holding the pope's hand."

"Everybody's emotion was intense when his holiness asked Oreglia and Rappolini to pardon him if he ever had disappointed any one."

"The holy father, just before he died, had two bad fits of coughing. Then he opened his eyes, and Dr. Lippold, bending over him, saw that he was expiring."

"After Cardinal Oreglia had certified the death by calling the pontiff's name thrice, a sculptor took a cast of the head and right arm."

NEW WINDOW DRAPERIES.

French and Italian Designs Mark All Latest Fabrics.

The question of window and archway draperies is a particularly live one to the present day householder, says Harper's Bazar. We are entering upon what an English writer terms "a renaissance of interior decoration," and the flood tide of French and Italian designs that marks all new fabrics quite sustains his conclusion. There is no phase of this study in which the impulse of invention is felt more strongly than in that which deals with new draperies and their counterfoils, wall papers.

The richest of today's novelties in furniture coverings and draperies are all in combinations that imitate the subdued tones of the late sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Molre damask in palest tan or the green of the mignonette, over which are impressionistic cream or pink flowers and designs in leaf and scroll that unite the pale shades of green, blue, rose and brownish tans, is conspicuous. In all the new brocades and damasks, whether costly or of medium grade and again repeated in lace embroideries, wall papers and the more beautiful cretonnes, the tendency is toward the exquisitely detailed conventional garland and basket and lover's knot designs which characterized French decorations of every class for a hundred or more years preceding Napoleon. At the same time there is to be seen in draperies of high texture and on embroidered net curtains a revival of Venetian and Florentine ornament.

Novel Russian War Craft.

According to the Norovest of St. Petersburg, two so-called "water protected" torpedo boats have been built in one of the government shipyards on the Neva. This new type of craft is said to be something between the ordinary torpedo boat and a submarine. It is in the form of a cigar and of small size. Its distinguishing feature is that it can travel equally well on the surface of the water and partly submerged. These vessels are known as "water protected" torpedo boats because when they are submerged the water forms a protection to a certain degree from attack by an enemy's projectiles. The boats will be tested shortly on the Neva both above and below the surface of the water.

YOUNG MAN KILLED AT GRANITEVILLE.

Fell Into Brook, Struck Head on Rock and Was Instantly Killed.

Graniteville, July 25.—John Nicholson was instantly killed by falling from a bridge near the old Woodbury place onto the rocks 15 feet below, death resulting from injuries to his head.

But little is known of the accident. Nicholson was in this village about 10 o'clock this forenoon and then evidently started for the city. When found there was a big splash on the top of his head where he struck the rocks.

The body was at once removed from the water and taken to the undertaking rooms of B. W. Hooker & Co. here. The water in the brook was only about 10 inches in depth.

The deceased was a young man and it was said had recently come to Barre from Boston. He was a brother of Mrs. Dan McDonald of Barre and also a cousin of Policeman Nicholson of that city. The funeral arrangements are not completed.

ELECTRICS TO WHITEHALL.

Project to Build Line From Rutland Dis- cussed.

Rutland, July 24.—There is great interest not only in Rutland but throughout this entire section of Vermont in the plans of the Rutland Street Railway company, the People's Gas company and Chittenden Power company. The annual meetings of these allied corporations have just been held, new directors and officers elected and plans discussed and decided upon for pushing future work. The reports of the conditions of the various properties were submitted to the respective boards and were received with much gratification, and the directors have determined to proceed immediately to complete all the properties.

It is intended in the near future to complete the line from Fair Haven to Whitehall, thereby giving through service between these places, and this service will be a high-speed direct-class service in every respect equal to any steam road in the country. It is believed that this service will afford the citizens of this extended territory facilities for traveling between Rutland and Whitehall and intermediate points which will be universally appreciated.

SAVED MAN'S LIFE.

Rutland Minister Dragged Drunken Man From Railroad Track.

Rutland, July 24.—Rev. H. W. Hewitt, pastor of the Advent Christian church, undoubtedly saved the life of a man at the railroad crossing near the fair grounds yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hewitt was taking a ride on his bicycle and was passing by the crossing when he discovered a man, who had evidently been partaking too freely of red lemonade or something stronger, asleep in a sitting posture in front of the cow guard.

The man was in such a position that half of his body projected over the railroad track and the train which reaches this city at 4:25 o'clock in the afternoon from Bellows Falls was almost due.

Mr. Hewitt dismounted from his wheel and by main strength dragged the sleeper from his place on the track. Less than a minute after he had removed the man and laid him away in a quiet place, the train flew past.

BURGLARY IN BRATTLEBORO.

Articles of Value Taken from the Home of J. L. Martin.

Brattleboro, July 24.—The house of United States District Attorney J. L. Martin was burglarized yesterday and a gold watch worth $40 and a clock worth $5 were stolen. The articles belonged to Margaret and Helen, Mr. Martin's daughters, and were taken from their rooms on the second floor.

The girls missed the articles when they retired last night. Three women peddlers were seen on the piazza during a heavy rain storm yesterday. During that time all the members of the family were away except a domestic who is employed in the kitchen. Deputy Sheriff McClure is looking for the peddlers.

AFTERMATH OF THE CIRCUS.

Nine Prisoners in Rutland City Court— Proctor Man Loses $400.

Rutland, July 24.—The aftermath of the circus was gathered this morning when nine prisoners confronted City Judge Ross in court. It was a motley crowd, the oldest being 65 and the youngest 19. Several could not speak English.

Seven pleaded guilty and were finished. Nearly all paid. One was found not guilty, and the others tried were found guilty.

Edmond Vanelli, of Proctor, reported to the police this morning that $400 had been picked from his pocket while in the city yesterday to attend Barnum's circus. Several other smaller thefts are reported.

TO CHASE SATAN TO SEA.

Rev. F. W. Sandford's New Plan to Convert Maine Fishermen.

Manned by a corps of experienced devil drivers, one of the Rev. F. W. Sandford's new gospel boats so sail from Bath, Me., the other day, says the New York World. The new boat, known among the Shillobites as Devil Chase No. 1, will first sail for the Kennebec river, where, it is asserted by the disciples of Sandford, the devil is hiding in a boathouse. After driving the devil to the sea the members of the Holy Ghost and U. S. society will endeavor to convert all the fishermen along Maine's rugged coast to their belief.

Much interest is taken in the new project of Sandford, as he declares God will protect him on land or sea, and he fears no storms or squalls, which are common on the Maine coast. He has no experienced skipper with him, and Bath seafaring men predict that the boat will soon be sunk either in a storm or by striking some large rock or bluff.

MUSIC SQUIRTING HOSE.

Geneva Man Distributes Concerts by Telephone.

A man in Geneva, N. Y., has a device by which he distributes music by telephone to persons living miles away, says the New York World. He is A. E. Wheeler, and his music distributor is made by attaching one end of a rubber hose sixty feet long to the diaphragm of a phonograph machine and the other end to the transmitter of the telephone. Everybody on Mr. Wheeler's telephone line can hear the phonograph distinctly. Twenty families on the line enjoy nightly concerts.

Recently Mr. Wheeler gave a concert in Phelps, a village eleven miles distant, by his telephone arrangement. He borrowed his idea from Bellamy's book, "Looking Backward."

Health Resort For Horses.

It will surprise many persons in the United States to learn that Uncle Sam is using his good offices to furnish baths for horses, but a lease just granted by the Interior department discloses this fact, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune. The lease grants to a man in Hot Springs, Ark., where there is a government reservation, the privilege of furnishing hot water for a pool bath for the treatment of horses that are, so to speak, under the weather. Horses that have had too high living and, like the blue blood of the human race, suffer from rheumatism, sciatica, gout, etc., can hereafter find the bath of Gilead at Hot Springs, and what is more, without price if need be. Veterinarian surgeons believe that the waters there are so beneficial in human cases that they must of necessity be equally productive of good to the equines. The springs are popular with the country, and many race horses with records and pedigrees of high and low degree make regular pilgrimages to the resort.

DIED DURING OPERATION

Conductor Sweeney Run Over.

ACCIDENT AT WATERBURY

Had Signalled Train to Start and Slipped Under Wheel as He At- tempted to Board Train.

St. Albans, July 25.—John C. Sweeney, conductor on the White Mountain train between Burlington and Montpelier, died this morning after an operation, made necessary by having his foot crushed by his train at Waterbury yesterday afternoon.

In attempting to board his train which he had just signalled to start, he misjudged the railing which he usually grasped in getting on the car and went down between the coach and the parlor car, the wheels of the latter passing over his right foot, crushing and mangle it so badly that amputation just above the ankle was necessary.

The accident was noticed at once by the trainmen and the train which was just pulling out and moving slowly, was stopped and Mr. Sweeney rescued from his precarious position. Medical aid was summoned at once and after the injured member had been dressed it was decided to bring Mr. Sweeney home for a thorough examination and treatment with the hope that at least a portion of his foot might be saved. He was brought to Essex Junction on his own train, where mail train No. 3 had been held to bring him to this city. He was at once taken to the hospital and after a consultation by Drs. Paige, Skeels and Hyatt, it was decided that the limb must be taken off above the ankle, which was done. Mr. Sweeney had been in the employ of the Central Vermont for over 20 years, the most of the time as conductor. He was one of the company's most efficient, popular and faithful men and is held in high esteem by his employers.

MANY SPORTS AND GAMES

Day Was Delightful One for Picnic and the Occasion Was Much Enjoyed.

The annual picnic of the employees of Marr and Gordon was held yesterday at Caledonia Park. The weather was ideal for an outing, and the assembly which numbered over 200, thoroughly enjoyed the sports and other diversions provided for the occasion.

An excellent programme of athletic sports was commenced early in the day, and were keenly contested throughout; while for those who were so inclined there was dancing in the Pavilion, the music being furnished by Messrs. Pater-son, and Ogston with their usual efficiency. In the course of the afternoon a fine exhibition of step dancing was given by Alex. Milne and Thomas McDonald. The former danced an Irish jig while the latter gave the well known Highland Fling. Both dancers were loudly applauded.

As in former years, the members of the firm gave a very handsome donation towards the funds of the picnic, and by their presence on the grounds did much to enhance the success of the affair.

The committee wish to take this opportunity of thanking them for their liberality, which is fully appreciated by the workmen, and which serves to further the good feeling so desirable between employers and employees.
